You can plan between 150 and 200 hours depending on your efficiency and how complicated a panel you put on your aircraft.

We are at about 130 hours on our demonstrator and have the engine install to do yet.

Did you do the instrument panel in the 130 hours?

No, that took us about another 20 hours of work but honestly, I don't know exactly how much time I have in planning and changing my mind about the layout. Actual work in the panel however is about 20 hours so far but it isn't finished yet. This is in addition to the 130 hours so we are at about 150 hours now.
